FINDING MY VOICE POEM

This is a poem that I wrote as part of my own healing process. I wrote it with the hope that it would encourage and inspire people to find their voice, find a trustworthy friend and speak up.

However, it was while writing this poem that I realised just how important the "first response" is. By that I mean, how people respond when they do get told about something. Often it can make or break the person doing the sharing.

It is from that realisation that Are You The Chosen One was created.

My focus shifted from encouraging people to find their voice and speak up to making sure that when they do speak up, the person they have chosen to speak to is confident with how to handle the situation.

I have added the poem here in the hope that it might still inspire people to find their voice but also for people to understand just how hard it can be to speak up. The poem ends the way I hope it goes for everyone that does find a friend and finds their voice!

Empowerment for the Future

As you delve into these poems, you will find yourself empowered to face the challenges and embrace the opportunities that lie ahead. The words ignite a fire within you, inspiring you to believe in your dreams, to persevere through adversity, and to live a life of purpose and meaning.

Excerpt –

'This famous wicked little tale
Should never have been put on sale
It is a mystery to me
Why loving parents cannot see
That this is actually a book
About a brazen little crook...'

'...Now just imagine how you'd feel
If you had cooked a lovely meal,
Delicious porridge, steaming hot,
Fresh coffee in the coffee pot,
With maybe toast and marmalade,
The table beautifully laid,
One place for you and one for dad,
Another for your little lad.
Then dad cries, 'Golly-gosh! Gee whizz!
'Oh cripes! How hot this porridge is!
'Let's take a walk along the street

'Until it's cool enough to eat.'
He adds, 'An early morning stroll
'is good for people on the whole.
'It makes your appetite improve
'It also helps your bowels move.'
No proper wife would dare to question
Such a sensible suggestion,
Above all not at breakfast-time
When men are seldom at their prime.
No sooner are you down the road
Than Goldilocks, that little toad

That nosey thieving little louse,
Comes sneaking in your empty house....'

'...(Here comes the next catastrophe.)
Most educated people choose
To rid themselves of socks and shoes
Before they clamber into bed.
But Goldie didn't give a shred.
Her filthy shoes were thick with grime,
And mud and mush and slush and slime.
Worse still, upon the heel of one

Was something that a dog had done.
I say once more, what would you think
Of all this horrid dirt and stink
Was smeared upon your eiderdown
By this revolting little clown?
(The famous story has no clues
