

Doctrine, Practice, and Advocacy in the Inter-American Human Rights System

: The Inter-American Human Rights System

The Inter-American Human Rights System is a regional system for the protection and promotion of human rights in the Americas. It is based on the American Convention on Human Rights and other international treaties and instruments. The system consists of three main bodies:

* The Inter-American Court of Human Rights * The Inter-American Commission on Human Rights * The Inter-American Court on Human Rights (IACHR) is a judicial body that interprets and applies the American Convention on Human Rights and other treaties. It is composed of seven judges who are elected by the Organization of American States (OAS) for six-year terms. * The Inter-American Commission on Human Rights (IACHR) is a quasi-judicial body that monitors and reports on the human rights situation in the Americas. It is composed of seven members who are elected by the OAS for four-year terms. * The Inter-American Human Rights System is a vital tool for the protection and promotion of human rights in the Americas. It has played a key role in the development of international human rights law and has helped to improve the human rights situation in many countries.
